Featured Fanatic

Alicia "Diva Leesha", Half Fanatic #5420

Tell me about your path to the Fanatic Asylum. I really didn't know about Half Fanatics until mid-2013, after I had run several half marathons. I actually would see several people wearing the gear, but didn't look into it until one of my running buddies became part of the Asylum. So around August of 2013, I was starting to plan how I was going to get into Half Fanatics. As of September 2013, I only had 3 half marathons scheduled, but I knew if I wanted to be part of Half Fanatics I needed to sign up for more. So what did I do, I signed up for 6 more because I was determined to not only come in at the Uranus level, but I wanted to add more moons before year end. On November 9, 2013 I became a member of this great asylum and was given the number 5420. By mid- December, I was able to get to Jupiter. It's funny because the first half of the year, I told myself I only wanted to do 4-5 half marathons for the year, but I ended up doing 11 half marathons (would have been 12 if Dallas Marathon had not been canceled).

How has running changed you? Back in 2004, when I first moved to Texas, I underwent surgery on my right knee and was told by my doctor that I would never run again. Feeling very discouraged, I sort of let my health go downhill from that point and over the years I gained over 100lbs. Due to the weight gain and not taking the best care of my knee, I had to undergo another surgery in 2009. I was still heavy at that point and the doctor encouraged me to lose weight, stick with my rehabilitation and not to run on pavement. Well I followed her orders except I didn't lose the weight. In 2011, after my grandmother passed away, my father had a long conversation with me about my weight and expressed his concerns about my health. I was shocked that my dad mentioned it because he never discussed my weight with me in the past and, as a result, I believe this was the boost I needed. From 2011 to 2012 I lost 111lbs and in 2012, I found myself back on the pavement running and loving it with NO knee pain.

What was your most memorable race? The Cowtown Marathon in February 2013 was my first long distance race since my knee surgeries. I signed up for the Cowtown Challenge, so I ran a 10k on Saturday and a Half on Sunday. The crowd support was awesome and it was a local race, so the majority of my running buddies, friends and family were there to cheer me on. After having 2 surgeries on my knee and being told I would never run again, it felt so good to prove them all wrong and I am now stronger than ever. This year, I will be going back to do the 10k and Full Marathon!!

What/Who inspires you to lace up your shoes and run? This is a tough question because there are so many people who inspired me along the way. People that I never met before have helped me along the way. I would have to say first of all that my family is my biggest inspiration especially my sister who has been in my corner from day 1. Then I would have to say those who want to run, but are unable to. I can't forget my match, buddy Eliot (I Run for Michael organization) who I dedicate all of my miles to because he is unable to at this time. Every time I want to give up or quit, I think of him and that keeps me going. There are so many people out there that wish they could take 1 step, but they can't. I don't take anything for granted, it's a true blessing to be able to run or walk because I feel like I have been given the chance to do it again and I will continue to do it until my body tells me no.

What are your goals for 2014 and beyond? Just to name a few—To become a Certified Run Coach; To run at least 1200+ miles by the end of 2014; I WILL lose another 20-25lbs by summer; I WILL be a double agent as of March 2, 2014 (by running Cowtown Marathon and LR Marathon, which is a week apart will get me to Marathon Maniac status); Purchase a bike so I can start training for duathlons; Continue to move up moon levels in the asylum; Become a member of 50 States Half Marathons and run in at least 8-10 more states this year. Most of all, I want to remain healthy, continue to inspire and help others to reach their goals.
