JULY 2014 NEWSLETTER

Featured Fanatic

Pam Scott, Half Fanatic #7885

I sat stunned in a strange doctor's office more than a hundred miles from home, listening to her tell me this was a life-changing day. The peripheral neuropathy that kept me up night after night with nerve pain in my feet was caused by a blood glucose issue. Permanent nerve damage happens when levels reach 140. Mine was 176! I was in shock. She said new studies were encouraging that losing weight, adhering to a sugar free diet, and exercise could begin to repair the nerves; but, it required consistency and dedication. I listened intently to all she had to say, then drove to the nearest mall for two scoops of chocolate ice cream and an afternoon pouring over books at Barnes and Noble. This health issue was impacting my ability to work as an elementary school teacher and I was desperate to find answers.

At the same time this was happening to me, my niece Teri was reaching the age her dad had died of a heart attack. She was determined to stop smoking and become a healthier person. Teri was 43 and I was 61. Neither one of us had ever done anything remotely close to an athletic event. We were about to enter a world of the unknown.

On doctor's orders, I started the South Beach Diet and lost thirty pounds. My blood sugar numbers began to level off. Teri threw away her cigarettes; and, though she didn't even own a bike, set a goal of riding the famous 200 mile Seattle to Portland bicycle ride the next year. We joined forces and became each other's cheerleader even though we live two hundred miles apart. We put together a support team, had matching shirts made, and cried when we crossed that finish line.

In order to work out in all sorts of weather and continue our exercise routine, we took up running. We started with 5ks, then 10ks and then signed up for a half marathon. (I just finished my eleventh!) Then, miracles of miracles, in 2013, we crossed the finish line in our hot pink shirts, visors, and hair ribbons of the Wenatchee Marathon at 64 and 47. Are we fast? No! Are we out there? Yes!

In May I completed the Sage Rat Run in Prosser, WA. to qualify for Half Fanatics! Who would have ever thought! The most special part? Right after I finished, I was privileged to run with one of my granddaughters, four year old Paige, on her very first race. I was the oldest runner in the competition and she was the youngest. Proud to help instill in her the joy of healthy living. Could anything be better? (That's the picture I included.). I am now setting my sights completing four more half marathons before and the Marine Corp Marathon in October.

The impact of all this? Teri and I learned it's never too late to start. The joy is being out there, no matter your age or speed. We have maintained a healthy life style. We don't belong to a gym, but our amazing husbands have built in-home exercise rooms for each of us. We formed The Jean Team, named after my mom, because so many of our family members have joined us as athletes...yes, we now consider ourselves athletes. We have daughters, daughters-in-law, grandchildren, sons, sons-in-law, and cousins who now proudly wear the team logo and compete in events. For me, one of the greatest benefits? My blood sugar levels are completely normal and tests prove my damaged nerves are regenerating! Proof that anyone can make life changes with determination and the support of a loving family.

EXPO SCHEDULE

Expo Dude Ray "McGuyver" Shaw will be at this Marathon Expos with club gear for Marathon Maniacs and Half Fanatics.
