Featured Fanatic Debi, Half Fanatic #867

How it All Started It was 2007, and I had quit a 32-year smoking habit a few years earlier and wanted to lose some weight. I started walking on a treadmill, but I realized if I moved a little faster I'd burn even more calories and be finished even faster, so I started running a bit. Next thing you know, in February of 2008 I participated in my first 5K finishing with a time of 49:19. Someone suggested I take up running with a young girl in our neighborhood, and next thing I knew, I started running outdoors. Then the bug took a big bite and I was hooked. Over the course of the next few months, I ran several local 5ks and 10ks. In February of 2009, I had participated in my first half marathon, finishing at 2:31:09. By that time, I had become involved in the local running club, first as the editor to the newsletter and later as the Co-President. Since I already qualified, in March of 2011, I joined the Half Fanatics, and as of February of 2012, I had participated in my 14th half marathon to date and had others slated on my race calendar.

The Day that Changed Everything On August 28th of 2012, I was involved in an automobile accident reported by the Highway Patrol as a probable fatality. Because the car was sitting in 3 feet of standing water, the top of my car was cut off in an attempt to rescue me. I was Bayflighted by helicopter to the local trauma center and my injuries included an open book pelvic fracture, a fractured tailbone, fractured sacrum, crushed knee cap, fractured knee, fractured nose, and a fractured eye orbit. There was glass embedded in my body everywhere and my glasses had cut right into my face. I have recently spoken to the first responders who cut me out of my car and they told me they thought I would be paralyzed for the rest of my life due to my injuries. I was in the trauma center for several weeks before being transferred to a rehab center for few more weeks. I was wheelchair-bound for months following the accident, but amazed my doctors when by December, I was up with the use of walker. By January, I had graduated to a cane, and by the end of that month, I was able to walk without any assistance.

The Power of the Run I was crushed when the doctors told me I'd never run again due to the pelvis injuries I had sustained and the hardware that remains in my body. In February of this year, I was able to walk and complete my first 5K with a finishing time of 59:07, and I can't begin to tell you the feeling of accomplishment! In September, I participated in another 5K and I was able to do a combination of running and walking, and then finally, on October 27, I was able to run/walk my first half marathon, the Halloween Halfathon in Clearwater! I was the 7th finisher from the end – the key word being "finisher" – with a time of 3:25:33.

Goals for the Future If all goes well, my goal is to participate in 14 half marathons in 2014, and somehow find a way to level up in Half Fanatics too!! Next stop for 2013, Space Coast Half on December 1st, with the Holiday Halfathon in Clearwater on December 15!

Each month there will be a "Fanatic poll". This poll will be posted online. Please take a few moments to answer this poll. I will post the results in the next newsletter.

This month's question: As 2013 comes to a close, race plans for 2014 are in full swing! How many half marathons are on your 2014 race calendar?

Please vote online between now and Dec. 31st at:

<http://survey.constantcontact.com/poll/a07e8n5rr91hoyk3z1/start.html>.

Last month's question: The leaves are falling, the weather is getting colder, this means my workouts include _____.

And the results show there is definitely no time for rest in this group! For 60% of you, cold weather just means more running. Guess that's why you are all FANATICS!
