HALF FANATICS

SEPTEMBER 2014 NEWSLETTER

Featured Fanatics

Carl & Karen Johnson, Half Fanatics #97 & 98

It was still dark, it was very cold, the race wasn't going to start for another 30 minutes and it was time to give up our extra clothing to gear check. Shuttle buses had brought us to the start of the Canyonlands Half-Marathon, some 12 miles up the Colorado River canyon from Moab, Utah. We knew it was going to get much warmer - and it was also going to get light enough to appreciate the spectacular beauty of the gorge - but right now shivering was making us think twice about why we had decided to run this race in March of 2007. It was in this condition that we met and talked to a gentleman wearing "The Shirt" - the trademark clothing announcing to fellow runners that he had run a marathon in all 50 US States and the District of Columbia. We were still shivering, but also fascinated by his story, his travel and his commitment to a goal. A seed was planted - and just 13.1

awe-inspiring miles and some post-race activity later, it started to germinate.

Karen and I had been married just over two years and living since then about 45 minutes from Salt Lake City. While dating and since our marriage we had run together regularly, to include a few 10K races and our first half-marathon together the previous fall in Valley of Fire State Park near Las Vegas. Karen had given birth to our little girl, Rachel, earlier that year and the race represented a commitment to getting back in shape. The setting had been amazing. We enjoyed the race and even surprised ourselves by doing pretty well. We had run a number of half and full marathons individually - but they had been quite a few years earlier. Suddenly, the idea of completing a 50-State Quest, together and for half-marathons, had enormous appeal. Although working again full-time, I had retired a few years earlier from a 25-year Army career; Karen was a registered nurse, but now home fulltime with our daughter. We both loved to travel and we believed we could make this happen. It would keep us in shape, take us places we had never been before and motivate us when we were tired, sore or just feeling lazy.

Our goal was to complete all 50 states and the District of Columbia by the time I turned 60. As the plan took shape I was 53. Within months we were on our way to New Jersey to run the Long Branch Half-marathon - officially kicking off our quest. Most of our early races were to locations where we had friends or family that put us up for the race weekend - and that could also help with Rachel while we ran. In fact, Rachel has been a running partner with us since she was born - logging thousands of miles in multiple jogging strollers as we trained - and even completing a couple of races with us. However, those were the exceptions, as friends, family, race directors and church associations have all been an enormous help to us during our race travel. My married children have also kept her on shorter weekend trips - sharing in our goal in a much appreciated way.

Carl & Karen Johnson, Half Fanatics #97 & 98

Since 2007 we have been running anywhere from 8 to 17 half-marathons a year. There have been many in absolutely spectacular settings (Mickelson Trail SD, Estes Park CO, Anchorage AK, Carlsbad CA, Traverse City MI, Victoria BC and Goose Bay/ Happy Valley, to name a few). There have been great, big city events (Chicago, Nashville, Virginia Beach, Austin TX, Toronto and Winnipeg, as examples), as well as very small and rural ones (such as Abilene KS, Gulf Coast MS, Mesa Falls/Ashton ID, and Goose Bay/Happy Valley). There have also been outstanding memorial or patriotic races (Boston's Run to Remember, Oklahoma City, Winnipeg Police Services, and the US Air Force Half in Dayton OH), and just about everything in between. In a very fitting way, our 50th State combined the best of all of our races and was a family affair as my four married kids ran the Oceanfront Half-marathon in Maui with us - three days before I turned 58.

Despite a few injuries (mine) and a heart valve infection (Karen's), it has been an amazing journey. Every race and every location have had something memorable to offer. We have met wonderful people along the way, seen beautiful places and had quite a few history lessons. We've also learned a lot about ourselves - enough to know we were nowhere near ready to stop running when we hung that finisher's medal on the final peg of our 50-State board. In fact, about four and a half years ago, as we could see the 50-state finish line rapidly approaching - and knew we wanted to keep actively running, we decided we needed to see a lot more of Canada. We added another board to our wall, with a peg for each of the ten Canadian Provinces. They all now have finishers' medals on them - and represent some truly memorable and inspiring trips - from Victoria, British Columbia, to Goose Bay and Happy Valley, Labrador and the fjords of Gros Morne National Park in Newfoundland. Our trip into Western Canada in May of last year represented the final two Canadian Provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan. (Although Karen believes we should also run races in the three Canadian Territories!)

Even with the completion of all 50 States, DC and 10 Provinces, we continue to run - now picking and choosing from the hundreds of possibilities those which we feel would be great destination runs or those which consistently receive high praise and reviews. We still want to run 6-9 half-marathons a year as we close in on the next goal of completing 100 of them before I turn 65.

Since I have known Karen she has often reminded me that she has a love-hate relationship with running. I suspect that may be true for many of us who run a lot. However, we keep running. Perhaps it is safe to say there are too many parallels with life to stop.

FANATIC POLL

Each month there will be a "Fanatic poll". This poll will be posted online. Please take a few moments to answer this poll. I will post the results in the next newsletter.

This month's question:

The most rewarding part of a half marathon is the preparation, the course or the finish?

Please vote online between now and October 31st at: <http://survey.constantcontact.com/poll/a07e9z9p7k5i18pud1t/start.html>.

Last month's question:

How old were you when you ran your first half marathon?
